“There is nothing more valuable than being engaged in the decisions that affect our communities and every aspect of our personal lives. I applied to be a Youth MP because I am passionate about youth involvement in politics as an outlet for our hopelessness, rage, and desire to make meaningful change. In my experience, young people often feel dejected and disengage when they don’t think meaningful change can come about. I would like to change that by learning about the system that is meant to serve us and our communities. As someone who grew up feeling disillusioned with systems that have previously failed my community, I am taking this opportunity to make sure that I have the knowledge and the hope needed to motivate and encourage others to be politically engaged.”
