

Sam Nicholls

“I applied to be a Youth MP because I enjoy participating in community groups such as theatre and football, but there aren't many options for them on the West Coast. If you want to progress in these areas, you need to go elsewhere. I would like to help people on the West Coast to be able to pursue their interests with equal opportunities such as they would have elsewhere in the country. I don't believe that people in rural or remote areas should miss out just because of where they live, so I want to bring attention to that fact, and to help promote community groups that are trying to create such opportunities for young people trying to enjoy their interests and hobbies.”
